Survey in hour Evidence about how Communication they feel about these things! The teacher does Number Talks routinely Students are talking about Math The teacher plans for and engages students in Mathematical dialog Are there artifacts of dialogic activities? Gallary walk, posters, graffiti activities, peer teaching, collaborative learning, etc? The teacher uses questioning techniques that allow ALL students to think (think pair share, discussions, hands-free questioning, conjecture, redirecting, asking students to paraphrase each other, etc) There is appropriate wait time when questioning The teacher uses open ended questions and encourages students to explain their reasoning There are math journals or other opportunities for students to write about their thinking and reasoning Vocabulary is taught explicitly. There is a word wall or other evidence of vocabulary work. Students feel safe to express their reasoning. When listening to a lesson, an observer would note that the teacher talk is balanced by of student dialog.
